

Ansible Flow

The Ansible control node will be called from the back end service. This is the only piece of the project that will connect to the cloud platforms and will be the only place any key is stored or used.

Flow

